

Participants

- 7 international Network
- 1 national coordination of local ALARA networks (France)
 - ISOE, International System on Occupational Exposures (NEA B. Okyar)
 - EAN, European ALARA Network (F. Vermeersh, and P. Shaw)
 - RECAN, Regional European and Central Asian ALARA Network (Mastuskas Albinas)
 - ARAN, Asian ALARA Network (K. Sakai; IAEA PP Haradissan)
 - REPROLAM, Red de Optimización de Protección Radiológica Ocupacional en Latino América (L Matta, IAEA: R Cruz Suarez)
 - EMAN: European Medical ALARA Network (P. Vock, R. Padovani)
 - ISEMIR :International System on occupational Exposure in Medicine, Industry and Research (C.Lefaure, R. Padovani, R. Von Sonsbeeck; IAEA, J Ma)
 - CoRPAR ; coordination of all 15 French regional RPO's networks (S . Prevot)
- Excused EANnorm (workshop meeting at the same time) (H.Schultz)
- Observer : ESOREX European Study on Occupational Radiation Exposure (A .Rannou)

Results of the meeting

- ISOE, EAN and ARAN
 - Workshops, recommendations, documents, working groups
- ISEMIR
 - IAEA Tecdocs are produced
 - Interventional cardiology
 - Industrial radiography
 - Development of a database

ALARA networks sustainability

- Political and financial support is needed to sustain the networks
- Networks driven by enthusiastic members
- Possible overlap of networks
- Medical networks difficult
 - Multi-disciplinary
 - Consists of different organizations per profession in the medical
- The French model of RPO/RPE regional ALARA networks could be of interest for other countries

ALARA networks discussions, ideas and news

- RECAN faces problems to survive
 - Investigate possibilities to join EAN ?
- IAEA also mentioned that some more support might be expected in the future TC programs
 - ALARA training ?
 - Introduction of ALARA tools ?
- ORPNET
 - Request to be more proactive in providing information or ALARA tools (through the networks)
- Membership or participation to the networks on individual bases, also using the new communication media

ALARA networks next meeting

- Foreseen at the occasion of the next IRPA meeting in 2016

Thank you for your attention